QUALITY FOR SALE.

'I have herewith much pleasure in testifying to the quality of the Fire Bricks as made by you at your new works. 'In appearance the Brick is light and soft as compared with the ordinary Fire Brick used in the Colony, but this I may say is characteristic of the best English Fire. 'After a very severe test I have no hesitation in saying that this Brick is admirably suited to resist any degree of heat that it may be likely to undergo and for all purposes that Fire Bricks are used for. 'I am now about to build them into one of my Furnaces and have no doubt of their being able to stand as well as the English ire Bricks I have been using.'

The complainant stated that while he was standing on the Praya the defendant snatched the watch and chain from him and bolted. Li A Sun went intothe witness-box to give evidence as to his having seen the theft committed, but his story was not satisfactory on several importnt points. After hearing further evidence Mr Mitchell-Innes said he did not believe a word either of the story told by the complainant or that of the witness Li A Sun. He ordered the complainant to pay $20 to the defendant or suffer-two months imprisonmont. Li A S un was fined $10, with the alternative of two months' imprisonment.

A STORY OF ORGANIC LIFE IN SINGAPORE Very little is known by the general pub lic here about this interesting subject. therefore propose to examine briefly th history of organic life in this place during, say, the last twenty-five years. Let us first enquire, what is organic life? The answer is obvious: life as connected with organs exactly so! Well then, about twenty-five years ago Messrs Walker and Company ser organic life. It was confined at that time entirely to the galery; and the choir, drawn, no doubt, by some as yet unknown law, sat close beside it. Let us pass over ten years, during which period all went on quietly and well. But now change was to occur: A surpliced choir was to be seen walking with lingering its place in the chancel, and lo! a second organ, built by Messra Bryceson and Company, was heard breathing soft melody from a chamber at this opposite end of the church. Here again was more organic life Was it the spontaneous work of Natura No; a subscription had been got up by few moving spirits, and the result was to be seen and heard in the choir organ which was at that moment breathing in the chancel. We must now skip fifteen years and here is the 1st September 1887, and we guided by two terriers to King's College find bot our organs somewhat, or rather very much, in want of a complete overhaul at the hands of a real organ-builder. The In such a climate as ours, where moth and going all night over you, with the doors and rust, damp and heat and various other evils combine to do mischief, an organ suffers much, and it is not wonderful if at night is the masquito curtain, which many a pipe which formerly gave forth its clarion tone to the delight of the congregacareful. You must instruct your servant of dust and dirt. How vividly did Shakes peare with marvellous foresight know this when he wrote "Imperial Cæsar, dead and turned to clay,"

"Alight stop a hole to keep the wind away,"

But now we come to serious busines A first-class organ-builder (Messrs. Walker's foreman) is actually here, in Singapore. He has been to Hongkong and Shanghai, at both of which places splendid instruments. b Messrs Walker, have lately been erected at a cost of over £1,500 each, the liberality and public spirit shown at both places serving as a hint to us here not to be too sleepy we wish to keep in the running at all in matters. The Trustees of our Ca thedral have engaged Mr. Burdekin to but our choir-organ, which is in such constant use, in thorough repair, but as the available funds will not be even enough for this outlay, there will be no way o getting our large organ put in good condition except by a subscription among all those in the community who would grieve to see what has been a very fine instrument fall into ruin. Our predecessors took pains and gave money to procure it; surely we
